

Title information

The War of the White Roses

Yorkshire Cricket's Civil War, 1968–1986

By Stuart Rayner

Key features

- Paperback edition of a book which documents a previously uncovered chapter in Yorkshire County Cricket Club's history
- With personal contributions from key factions on both sides of the divide – including members of the Yorkshire playing squad, committee and staff, as well as opponents, journalists and commentators from the era
- Includes glossy photo section including a number of important and iconic images from the time
- Written by experienced cricket writer and journalist Stuart Rayner, who currently covers the first-class game for The Journal (current ECB Regional Newspaper of the Year)
- Nominated for the Cricket Writers' Association Book of the Year and described by The Telegraph as "excellent"

Description

In 1968 Yorkshire County Cricket Club was the dominant force in English cricket, yet by 1986 it had slid to become one of the game's also-rans. The War of the White Roses tells the story in full from a completely neutral perspective for the first time. With insight from inside the dressing room, committee room, and from the terraces, it tells how two decades of fierce infighting caused so much damage it took almost 30 years to recapture those past glories. The period from 1968 to 1986 was scarred by bitterness, pettiness and jealousy as civil war broke out with one of the county's greatest-ever players, the brilliant but divisive Geoffrey Boycott, at the centre of the story. He is just one of the many interviewees to contribute from both sides of the divide, looking at the personal feuds and political machinations of the period, and examining just how they contributed to the team's fall from grace.

Details

Publication: 1 June 2018
Price: £12.99
ISBN-13: 9781785314070
Format: 218mm x 138mm
Binding: Paperback
Extent: 352 pages
Category: Cricket

Trade Orders to: LBS Ltd
Faraday Close, Worthing BN13 3RB

Telephone: 01903 828905
Fax: 01903 828802
Email: team4@lbsltd.co.uk
You may also order via EDI