

Title information

USA 94

The World Cup that Changed the Game

By Matthew Evans

Key features

- First comprehensive overview of the 1994 World Cup, a watershed moment in football, and features extensive research from both modern sources and archived accounts
- Exclusive insight from players, executives, coaches and journalists with first-hand experience of the tournament
- Charts the tournament from the bid process through to the final, played in front of 94,000 fans
- Details the tournament's impact on football and its legacy in the USA and around the world
- Matthew Evans is a freelance football writer who specialises in the history of the game; he appears regularly on football podcasts and has written for such outlets as These Football Times and Nutmeg magazine
- Publicity campaign planned including radio, newspapers, websites, podcasts and magazines

Description

A group of volunteers begged, borrowed and remortgaged a house on their way to convincing FIFA to hand them the keys to the 1994 World Cup. When they got the green light, the USA was tasked with presenting the greatest show on earth to a nation of non-believers, with a press corps just waiting for them to fail. Six years later, the country famed for its glitz, glamour and razzmatazz delivered a glorious summer of memorable kits and billowing goal nets, confounding the doubters as they shattered attendance records and drew fans in their millions. The full-throttle journey to the global phenomenon that football is today had begun. It was a tale of two missed penalties, a car chase, internal politics, triumph and tragedy in equal measure. Heroes were born, dreams were shattered and for many life would never be the same. If Italia 90 unlocked the door to the modern game, then USA 94 kicked it open and nailed it to the wall. The revolution was here, and it was televised.

Details

Publication: 27 June 2022

Price: £16.99

ISBN 13: 9781801501675 Format: 222mm x 144mm

Binding: Hardback Extent: 256 pages Category: Football Trade Orders to:

Macmillan Distribution (MDL), Cromwell Place, International Business Park, Lime Tree Way, Basingstoke, Hampshire RG24 8YJ

Telephone: 01256 302692 Email: orders@macmillan.co.uk